RECONCILIATION

Can You undertake an Overseers Mission ?

Our sister churches in Africa, Asia and the Pacific are requesting Australian Catholics to join them to build the skills of those in their community who have had less opportunity than ourselves. Please consider these Mission opportunities abroad. The Australian Catholic Bishops Conference provide support. Palms Australia, who have prepared Australian Catholics for global mission since 1961, will ensure accommodation and a living allowance is provided to you during your time away. Enquire online or Ph: 0422 742 567 to find out about a placement to engage your skills.

You can also Register for a Webinar on Monday August 1st at 7:00 pm to talk directly with a Palms' partner community in Timor Leste and two Australians recently posted to work with them. Invite your friends. The stories will inspire.

Sister Veronica Lawson rsm (East Ballarat) offers a reflection on the Gospel for the 18th Sunday in Ordinary Time (Year C, Luke 12:13-21)

Every faithful Jew and every faithful Christian knows that "the earth belongs to God and all that is in it" (Psalm 24). That does not stop people from arguing over possessions and even killing for them. It never has. There seems to be something deep within the human psyche that continually seeks for more, even where there is more than enough to sustain a good quality of life. Those who seek to be "rich toward God" or "rich in God" find life. Those who seek to be rich in all sorts of material possessions will simply be left, at life's end, with a question: "To whom will this hoard belong?" The question is rhetorical in today's gospel. It expects the answer of Psalm 24: the earth and all that is in it belongs to God.

Jesus is addressed as "teacher", and is asked to force a decision in an inheritance debate. He demonstrates that he is "teacher" rather than "divider". He tells a hard hitting story. Jesus knows that story-telling is more effective in bringing people to make life-giving decisions than is any attempt to bring down a definitive ruling, especially for those who surely know the law.

His story is about a landowner who is blessed by an abundant harvest. The estate manager or steward as well as the peasant workers and their families might reasonably expect a share in the profits, maybe a remission of the debts they inevitably carry. In this instance, the blessing of abundance turns the landowner in upon himself rather than out to others and so "toward God". First person singular pronouns predominate: "What am I to do? I have no place.... I will do this.... I will I will I will" The futility or senselessness of stockpiling for personal gain is highlighted by the shift to second person singular: "You fool..." and the divine judgment on the landowner's self focus and greed.

Just two weeks ago, I was privileged to be at the death bed of a feisty gospel woman who had little by way of material goods. She threw in her lot some fifty years ago with her Mercy sisters and over the decades placed her trust in the goodness of a generous God. Her footprint on the earth was ever so gentle. She knew that the good things of the earth belong to God and to all of God's people, and she lived in the light of that faith. She was and is forever "rich toward God". She understood today's gospel and showed us how to make it a reality in our lives.

Next Weekends Readings: - 19th Sunday in Ordinary Time Year C – 6th & 7th August 2022

1st Reading: Wisdom 18:6-9

Responsorial Psalm: Ps 32:1, 12, 18-20, 22

Response: Happy the people the Lord has chosen to be his own.

2nd Reading: Hebrews 11:1-2, 8-19

Gospel: Luke 12:32-48

First Reading

Eccl 1:2; 2:21-23

A reading from the book of Ecclesiastes

What do people gain by all their work?

Vanity of vanities, the Preacher says. Vanity of vanities. All is vanity!

For so it is that a man who has laboured wisely, skilfully and successfully must leave what is his own to someone who has not toiled for it at all. This, too, is vanity and great injustice; for what does he gain for all the toil and strain that he has undergone under the sun? What of all his laborious days, his cares of office, his restless nights? This, too, is vanity.

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 89:3-6. 12-14. 17. R. v.1

(R.) In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

1. You turn men back into dust and say: 'Go back, sons of men.' To your eyes a thousand years are like yesterday, come and gone, no more than a watch in the night. (R.)
2. You sweep men away like a dream, like grass which springs up in the morning. In the morning it springs up and flowers: by evening it withers and fades. (R.)
3. Make us know the shortness of our life that we may gain wisdom of heart. Lord, relent! Is your anger for ever? Show pity to your servants. (R.)
4. In the morning, fill us with your love; we shall exult and rejoice all our days. Let the favour of the Lord be upon us: give success to the work of our hands. (R.)

Second Reading

Col 3:1-5, 9-11

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Colossians

Seek the things that are above where Christ is.

Since you have been brought back to true life with Christ, you must look for the things that are in heaven, where Christ is, sitting at God's right hand. Let your thoughts be on heavenly things, not on the things that are on the earth, because you have died, and now the life you have is hidden with Christ in God. But when Christ is revealed – and he is your life – you too will be revealed in all your glory with him.

That is why you must kill everything in you that belongs only to earthly life: fornication, impurity, guilty passion, evil desires and especially greed, which is the same thing as worshipping a false god; and never tell each other lies. You have stripped off your old behaviour with your old self, and you have put on a new self which will progress towards true knowledge the more it is renewed in the image of its creator; and in that image there is no room for distinction between Greek and Jew, between the circumcised or the uncircumcised, or between barbarian and Scythian, slave and free man. There is only Christ: he is everything and he is in everything.

Gospel Acclamation

Mt 5:3

Alleluia, alleluia!
Happy the poor in spirit;
the kingdom of heaven is theirs!
Alleluia!

Gospel

Lk 12:13-21

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

To whom will all this wealth of yours go?

A man in the crowd said to Jesus, 'Master, tell my brother to give me a share of our inheritance.' 'My friend,' he replied, 'who appointed me your judge, or the arbitrator of your claims?' Then he said to them, 'Watch, and be on your guard against avarice of any kind, for a man's life is not made secure by what he owns, even when he has more than he needs.'

Then he told them a parable: 'There was once a rich man who, having had a good harvest from his land, thought to himself, "What am I to do? I have not enough room to store my crops." Then he said, "This is what I will do; I will pull down my barns and build bigger ones, and store all my grain and my goods in them, and I will say to my soul: My soul, you have plenty of good things laid by for many years to come; take things easy, eat, drink, have a good time." But God said to him, "Fool! This very night the demand will be made for your soul; and this hoard of yours, whose will it be then?" So it is when a man stores up treasure for himself in place of making himself rich in the sight of God.'
