Making Connections: Try to stand up for someone this week who may be in need of a defender. Take on the role of an advocate. Alternatively, you could try to bring the gift of peace to someone whose heart is troubled or afraid.

Did You Know?: The meaning of the word advocate is 'one who is summoned to help another'! Another term commonly used for the Holy Spirit is Paraclete, which comes from a Greek term meaning 'called to the side of' and so has the same meaning as advocate. In the Hebrew Scriptures, peace was one of the distinguishing marks of the time of the Messiah—a time when swords would be made into ploughshares (Isaiah 2:4) and the wolf would live with the lamb (Isaiah 11:6). Jesus' gift of peace confirms that he is the longed-for Messiah.

Exploring the Word: Disciples should live out their faith in Jesus' absence: they must keep his word, the word of God. Jesus has promised to send the Advocate or the Holy Spirit, who will continue to unfold the word as the church grows and meets new situations and challenges. In conferring the gift of peace on his disciples, Jesus is preparing them for his departure and his absence. This will be a trial for the disciples, but the peace of Christ and the Holy Spirit will help them to understand his return to the Father and to be confident that they too will one day make that journey. How do you cope with the 'absence' of Jesus? In what way do you experience Christ's presence? How do you experience the Spirit in your life?

Sharing the Tradition: The situation of the church has changed again and again through its 2000-year history. In the beginning were periods of persecution and violence; these gave way to a settled period and gradual growth. The church has enjoyed times of strong political support and even political power, and times of threat and decline. At times it has engaged in war to safeguard its position of dominance, and it has distanced itself from political power at other times. The ebbs and flows of the church's understanding of itself and its role in the world are fascinating. Vatican II spoke of how God, who spoke in the past, 'continues to converse' with the church (Dei Verbum §8). Through the Plenary Council 2020, the Catholic Church in Australia hopes to enter more intensely into that divine-human dialogue. What are the challenges facing the church today, and where do you think the guidance of the Spirit is needed now?

Symbols and Images: In the gospels, Jesus promises many times to send the Holy Spirit to be a guide and a help to his followers after his ascension. What do you think the role of the Holy Spirit is in the life of the church today and in your own life?

Daily Prayer: You have promised, O God, to make your home with those who hear your word and put it into practice. Send your Spirit to remind our hearts of all that Jesus has taught us and to make us effective witnesses to your saving plan for all the world.

Marriage Tip: When you are talking to your spouse, make sure your tone and language reflect love. Avoid accusatory or defensive language and use unique language that lets your spouse know s/he is special.

Vocational View: It is not that talents add up to a vocation; but rather a Vocation brings talents. The Spirit of God lives within you!

Catholic Education Week

The theme for Catholic Education Week 2019 is Listen with the Ear of your Heart. St Benedict instructed his monks to 'Listen by inclining the ear of your heart'. His poetic language is asking us to listen, not just with our ears, but with our hearts to all that comes our way. While we might hear the words with our actual ears, with our hearts we can deeply reflect, discern, and take action if necessary. This theme aligns well with the preparation for the Plenary Council 2020 which has called on the Catholic Church to use 2019 as a year of prayer, discernment and dialogue—to truly listen with the ear of the heart.

Confirmation 'God Speaks, We Listen—Background for Adults

The Bible is the record and witness of the covenant (promise) relationship between God and God's people Israel (Old Testament) and the Church (New Testament), in which is revealed and communicated who God is and how God acts in history for our salvation. The written texts of the bible convey this relationship and revelation in ways belonging to their literary genre and historical context. The Bible is the Word of God mediated by human words. When these texts are proclaimed in the liturgy, in a setting of prayer and openness to the Spirit, God interacts with us here and now, speaking his Word anew in the midst of the assembly and inviting our response in faith.

Blessed are those who see God in every person and help others to see him too.

Jesus said, 'This is my commandment: love one another, as I have loved you.' (John 15:12)

Jesus, help us to love other people as you love them. Amen.

This week, think of one person you find hard to like and pray for that person.

The world tells us to seek success, power and money; God tells us to seek humility, service and love.

Dear Friends,

This Sunday marks National Sorry Day, when we remember and mark our country's troubled history with First Nations peoples. It is the start of National Reconciliation Week.

The theme of the week this year is, 'Grounded in truth-Walk together with courage'. The campaign this year calls for a comprehensive process of truth-telling about Australia's colonial history—understanding the past so that we can build a future together.

In the Gospel reading this week, Jesus tells his disciples, 'If anyone loves me he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we shall come to him and make our home with him.'

There's a challenge there for Jesus' followers, to turn their love for Christ into action to keep Christ's message alive in the world. Reconciliation Week is a reminder that if we are able to keep Christ's word—if we are to make a home with God—then we need to reach out with love to our First Nations peoples. Michael McVeigh (Australian Catholics Editor)
