Jer 20: 7-9

Ps 62: 2-6, 8-9

Romans 12: 1-2

Matthew 16: 21-27

27th August, 2017 21st Sunday of Ordinary Time (A)

Focus on the Scripture:

The readings highlight two different but related themes: the character of our understanding of Christ, and our understanding of discipleship that flows from it. Christological reflections reach a climax in the question posed to the disciples: Who do you say I am? In this liturgical context, the same question is posed to us. Who is this one who multiplies loaves of bread, who walks on turbulent waters, who breaks the boundaries that separate insider from outsider? It is none other than the messiah.

When Peter testified to Jesus' identity, it was a relevant religious and political statement, for messianic expectation was a burning question at that time. But what does it mean for the average Christian today? Many believers consider messianic expectation a theological theme that belongs to the past. They feel that it is difficult to get excited about the coming of someone who we believe has already come and gone. If Jesus were to pose this question today, how would we answer?

Like Peter, we too may have good intentions, but when they are put to the test we realise that that was all that they were – good intentions. Still, we should not be discouraged by our weaknesses, for just as Peter's failure did not deter God from entrusting him with power and authority, so our failures need not be obstacles to God's grace in our lives. We watch God entrust the church to individuals who are weak and undependable, and we realise that judgments are inscrutable and God's ways unsearchable.

St Vincent de Paul – an invitation to help out Every Sunday evening members and friends of the Saint Vincent de Paul team delivers donated bread to a number of families around Ballarat North. Upon collection of the bread, we re-bag and deliver it in pairs to designated houses – the job is usually complete within the hour. We have a number of committed people who support this program but would love to hear from anyone who is interested in helping out on a casual basis. This is a wonderful opportunity to volunteer a little of your time, every so often, to help out those in need – and we would appreciate any support you can give. If you can help, please contact the Parish Office or speak to the person on the Piety Stall before/after Mass. Also, if you are interested in finding out more about our St Vincent de Paul Conference, we would warmly welcome any enquiries or new members – just enquire at the office or Piety Stall.
