Readings for next weekend:

Acts 5:27-32. 40-41

Ps 29:2. 4-6. 11-13. R. v.2

Rv 5:11-14

Jn 21:1-19

Focus on the Scriptures

The first reading is one of the passages that forms the basis of the idealisation of the early Christian community (cf. Acts 4:32-35). Today's reading offers a collage rather than a picture of the community. It is less a coherent summary than a collection of motifs, even somewhat contradictory motifs. The great accomplishments of the early Christians certainly struck fear in the hearts of some; but they also attracted others. 'Signs and wonders' is a way of describing the mighty works of God (cf. Exod 7:3; Ps 135:9; Acts 2:22, 43; 4:30). Here it refers to the miracles that the apostles were able to accomplish through the divine power bestowed on them by Jesus (cf. Luke 9:1).

The responsorial psalm consists of excerpts from a song of thanksgiving. The refrain ('His mercy endures forever') establishes the psalm's congregational liturgical character. The psalm itself begins with a call to give testimony to the goodness of God. The Hebrew word for mercy (hesed), is a technical theological term, denoting God's steadfast love. The psalmist was under great duress, suffering at the hands of others and being overpowered. God stepped in and saved the psalmist from ultimate defeat. The rescue of the individual is linked to the salvation of the entire community. Although the salvation described occurred in the past, the psalmist insists that today is the day that the Lord made, today is the day that we rejoice in God's saving work.

The second reading is a report of a commissioning vision of the speaker, who was caught up by the Spirit and commissioned by God as were the prophets of old. The function of this vision was twofold: it clarified the nature of the speaker's task; and it conferred divine authority upon it. Since adherence to civil religion was considered the duty of every good citizen, preaching the gospel and testifying to faith in Jesus was considered a political breach that warranted severe punishment. Identifying himself as a Christian, this John makes himself a companion with the others in the suffering that they endure for the sake of their faith. The vision is clearly for the churches, not for any individual.

In the gospel, two resurrection appearances form a kind of diptych with Thomas as the connecting hinge. Thomas represents the second generation of Christians, those who are called to believe on the testimony of others. The faith required of him is, in a way, more demanding than that required of those who actually encountered the risen Lord. Viewed in this way, his doubt is understandable. While we may judge him harshly for it, Jesus does not. Instead, he invites Thomas to touch him, an invitation not extended earlier to the other disciples. The story does not say that Thomas actually touched the wounds, only that he cried out in faith: 'My Lord and my God.'

April 28, 2019 - 2nd Sunday of Easter "Jesus said to them again, 'Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, so I send you.'" (John 20:21)

Peace – the first gift of the risen Lord. Just as Jesus sent the apostles out into the world, so too, He sends us. As disciples of Jesus, we are called to be grateful and generous. Look for opportunities to share His peace, not only within our local parish boundaries, but outside of them as well. In giving, we receive the peace of Jesus Christ.

Baptisms we congratulate Leo John Answer, son of Jarrad and Melissa; and Margo May and Harry Jack Ward, children of Simon and Samantha, who will be baptized at St Columba's on Sunday morning. We pray that they will grow in faith with the love and support of parents, family and our parish community.

2019 Stewardship Renewal Program results Thank you to parishioners who participated and responded to the invitation to support the Parish by volunteering for Groups & Ministries, and by making a financial pledge to Our Lady Help of Christians and St Columba's Parishes. Currently, the Catholic Church has many critical challenges - we are afflicted by the loss of moral credibility and trust due to the sexual abuse crisis; the fall in religious practices and the decline in Sunday worship. Your ongoing hope, faith and support though has meant that the 17% fall in our Stewardship income experienced over the past two years has been arrested. Our Lady Help of Christians Pledged Stewardship income is now $1,497.00 per week from 155 givers (i.e. 129 existing givers and 26 new givers), and 34 parishioners have volunteered for our Groups & Ministries. St Columba's Pledged Stewardship income is now $1,988.00 per week from 166 givers (i.e. 150 existing givers and 16 new givers), and 40 parishioners have volunteered for our Groups & Ministries. Your generous response and contribution will enable us to meet our priorities for the next three years. Your generous response and contribution will enable us to meet our priorities for the next three years. I sincerely appreciate the efforts of the Program Leadership Teams of both parishes: Mike Beaumont; Pauline and Tony Newman; Adrienne Cove and Leigh Bradshaw (Wendouree) and Bruce Chapman; Trish Simmons; Anthea Hinchey; Peter Eddy; David Fara; Jim Kierce; Kierce O'Loughlin; our school co principals Shaun Mohr and Kim Butler (Ballarat North). Thank you also to all the volunteers who offered their assistance.
